Both the congressional candidates, Mayor Lyman and Colonel Keatley, spent Sanday at home. The former speaks at Lewis to-day and Panora to-morrow. Colonel Keatley speaks at Audubon to-day and Exira to-morrow. Day after to morrow, Wednesday, all qualified voters who have not already done so, will be given a chance to regis ter, all failing to be registered on that evening at 9 o'clock will be disfranchised. If the weather remains favorable the paving of upper Broadway will be completed this week. The street-car track is completed nearly to the Babbitt home, the terminus, and before long the cars will be running up there, much to the delight of the residents of that part

The thermometer got down to 50 deg. at 6 o'clock last eyening. The day was damp, chilly and disagreeable, and nearly all who had overcoats brought them out. Very few indulged in a Sunday drive, but those who did had on their heavy coverings, and occasionally Pat Reily and George Howerton were yeserday making the rounds of the sat-loonts and demanding that they be sold something to drink. They claimed their money was as good as anybody's, and they wanted more booze and would have it. When landed in jail they had money and whisky in their pockets. The seventeenth annual convention of the Iowa Y. M. C. A is to be held in Des Moines commencing next Thursday afternoon, and extending to Sunday night, Harry Curtis, the secretary here, and who is one of the most successful workers, will represent Council Bluffs, and will doubtless be given a prominent place on the programme.

The time for registering caught Judge Loofbourow in Sidney, Tremont county. He had to adjourn court from Friday until Tuesday in order to get home to At-lantic, and get registered. A rather heavy expense for the sake of giving the judge a chance to get in his one vote, but the new registry law is chargeable with the responsibility of the suspension of court business.

The independent candidacy of Justice Hendricks will result, without doubt, in the election of that worthy man. He is an old citizen, has been tried and found not wanting, and many democrats will by their votes for him rebuke the jobbing of the township convention. Some of the leading democrats are working earnestly

The republicans have been wise in their nomination of constables—Jo Spalding, Wall McFadden and John Fox. They are men whom the people will giadly support. Jo Spaulding, with his empty sleeve, was ousted from the democratic postoffice because he was a republican. Wall McFadden is an experienced officer, an old soldier, and a man who knowing his duty dares to do it. Colonel Fox is also a veteran, an old citizen in whom all have confidence and one who has filled the position most acceptably once be-

The republicans acted wisely in endorsing the independent candidacy of N. Schurz, as one of the justices of the Justice Seturz has shown himself to be an honest and capable magistrate, and the people will see to it that he is retained in his position by an over-whelming majority. The only fight be-ing made upon him is by the clique who manipulated the democratic township convention, and they will be terribly rebuked at the polls.

H. J. Chambers has so attended to the duties of county recorder, that even in the heat of the campaign not a whisper is to be heard against him, not even among the democrats. There is no good reason for a change, and those who vote for the democratic candidate can give no better reason for doing so than mere party preference. The democratic nom-inee, on the other hand, is being knifed by men in his own party, on account of the way in which the county democratic convention was run by a clique.

Small Sneaking Steals.

Yesterday morning Chris. Eiseler, on getting out of bed, discovered that he had been robbed. Investigation showed that the window of his bedroom in the rear of his saloon on Broadway had been raised, and that thieves had reached in with a long clothes pole and lifted his trousers out, taking about $5 in silver and returning his trousers to their former position on a chair.

HANSEN'S BODY

Coroner Faul Has a Sensational Theory About the Baddock Murder-Petty Sneak Thicking-Still Talking Boom.

Coroner Paul's Theory.

The disappearance of Henry Peters, one of the important witnesses of the Haddock murder, and the intimation that he had been killed to prevent his telling tales, has caused Coroner Faul, of Election takes place one week from to this city, to form a theory. On the 4th of this month the body of a stranger was found in the willows about a mile from prices. No. 328 Broadway. Crescent. It was badly decomposed and could not be identified. The place where the body was found was one which could be reached by a skiff, coming down the Missouri, and Coroner Faul jumps to the conclusion that the men who came down the river after the Haddock mur-der brought the body of this man and had it there. He has sent word to Sioux City of his suspicions, and is confident, he has struck the right trail, though others are not so ready to believe it. If the body was that of the missing witness to the marder, that fact might easily be established by the clothing. The body found was dressed in a dark woolen striped sack coat, a nearly new pair of button shoes, white shirt, coarse cotton under-shoes, white shirt, coarse cotton undershirt and white drawers. In the pockets was a horn collar button, a new tooth brush and a badiy crumpled piece of paper, on which was written: "Miss Mine Newman, Capitol ave. H. Ragburn."

The friends with the body arrived here last evening, and the funeral will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It appears that the body was found at Plattsmouth two days ago, and an inquest not leading two days ago, and an inquest not leading two days ago, and an inquest not leading to any identification the body was buried. The friends had it disinterred, and the identity being established, it is brought Chats on the Corners. "It's about time I began to clear the idewalks of obstructions," said City Marshal Guancila to a Bee man Saturday evening. "Every once in a while tney put out these large blackboards and bulletins," he continued, as he neared a large bulletin board that obstructed fully a quarter of the width of the sidewalk on Broadway. "It is now the opening of the winter season, and they will try to out do their rivals in business, and before we know it nine out of ten of them will be going beyond the limits, and the only way to do is to put a stop to it. On Monday I shall notify them to remove all obstructions, and those that don't comply immediately will have a chance to pay over a small amount to the city.'

"It's wonderful how many lunch counters and coffee stands have sprung up in the past year or two. Three years ago there wasn't hardly one in the city, but now they are as thick as any other business," said a sporting man yesterday. "Some one or two of these lunch counters are not required to pay any rent. They are given rent free, as the saloon in which they are located derives a large benefit. Often a man enters to get a lunch, or perhaps sees something inviting and goes in for a piece of pie and a cup of coffee or a glass of milk; he may be a stranger in the city. While eating he notices a bar directly in the rear of him and orders a drink, or perhaps meets a friend; they have a few drinks; in the rear room they hear the chips rattle; a fellow shouting 'high and odd' or '30 in the red, high and even; he goes in, looks around, and finally drops a few dollars all from seeing something that looks inviting behind the lunch counter. It won't be long before all the lunch counters that are located in saloons, and that is the present location of every one in this city ex-cept the one at the Rock Island depot, will be given rent free. There's money in the lunch counter business, but mostly every proprietor of one is somewhat of a sport and naturally 'blows in his dust' as soon as he gets it. I see now a 15-cent lunch counter has been started; that is getting it down pretty low for this part of the west."

"The bones of this city have been picked pretty thoroughly," said a gentleman yesterday in referring to a number of the public improvements that have been completed during the past two or three years and now being completed, "and it has been by some of the older citizens," he continued. "There has, for some reason, never been a howl about 'jobbery' or 'stealing' in all our improvements; nothing but whispers have been heard and if the people don't look out and select the right men there may be a The court house is not yet big howl. completed and many quiet jobs can be put up on the unsuspecting public in the next few years."

"I lived here a long while and I've never yet seen as good prospects for a big boom as I do for this city the coming year." said a twenty-five year resident of Council Bluffs yesterday to one of the BEE "We've talked of booms, etc., but now we've a grand chance; I've been talking to a majority of our moneyed men in the pas three weeks and they are are all of the same opinion. If we get a boom this city will slide right along; you can't boom a place when there's nothing to boom, but when a boom is once started it's an easy job to keep it a booming. I returned a couple of days ago from a week's trip and I tell you not only the people of the immediate vicinity of this city but all throughout western Iowa for 125 miles east of here have read in the BEE of these improvements contemplated and they are anxiously awaiting developments."

Another gentleman talking of the Another gentleman talking of the "boom" said "it seems next season will give this city a big shake up; even now property is picking up and the advance shake is being felt. Every body has more confidence in the town than they have had for years back. Even one or two of the real estate firms have began to rub their eyes and are awaken ing to the fact that have are becoming began to rub their eyes and are awakening to the fact that buyers are becoming more numerous. If these real estate firms would branch out with some flaming advertising—say they take a good-sized advertisement in the daily papers and tell the people what they have to sell, don't you think that would back up the newspapers who are giving the boom a lift? Certainly it would; people in our own city would begin to buy real estate; so would outsiders and our daily trans-fers of real estate would increase fully three fold by the opening of next spring We've got the makings of a boom here and it is that of a substantial one and for gracious sake don't let us lie idle and let it slip through our hands."

"I'll tell you where there are a lot of dry bones that need shaking up," said another. "Do you know that there is a large amount of property here owned by non-residents, and controlled by local agents, who are making more by their inactivity than they could by activity. These agents buy up warrants at a discount, to pay the taxes with, and then get from the owners of the property the cash for the full amount. They get a commission too for looking after the property, and in this way they make more than if they found a purchaser and

A Concert Service. Last evening the Broadway Methodist church was filled to its utmost capacity at the concert service given by the Sunday School. Every seet was taken, the aisles were filled and the vestibule even crowed. The exercises consisted of even crowed. The exercises consisted of recitations, music, etc. The infant class gave some interesting exercises. Gordon Knotts and Clyde Smith gave pleasing recitations. Nellie Jones gave a song, Allonise Caurs recited "Angry Words." Louic Oreutt recited "Try Again." Clyde Lyons gave a recitation. One of the best of the evening was "Didn't Think," by Kittle Brown. Dottie Me-Naughton recited "God in the Storm" in a manner which would have done credit a manner which would have done credit to an older verson. Myrtie Hale recited "Don't Be Mean," a little poem written by Rev. G. W. Crofts, of this city. Eva Tilbert also gave a pleasing selection. Mrs. Wallace's class gave scripture re-

Mr. Hugh Smith's class recited "Pilgrim Wants." Mr. Coker's class gave us a dialogue, "Mottoes," one of the most pleasing exercises of the evening. The church choir furnished a trio. Mrs Brown's class sang "Help a Little." Mrs. Occutt's class of girls sang "Daughters of Zion." Mrs. Tulley's class furnished a quartette of boys, who sang very meely.

The exercises throughout were very creditable, and the programme, varied and well rendered, pleased the large audience greatly. First class regular dinner 25 cents, 12 o 2 o'clock. Phænix chop house, 505 Broadway.

Hansen's Body Found. On Wednesday, October 6, a man named Hans Hansen, while at work on the new Union Pacific bridge, fell from the end of a plank into the river, and disappeared from sight. The accident occurred about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. and search for the body was kept up until after dark and then abandoned. Yesterday morning word was received here that the body had been found at Plattsmouth on Saturday evening. A team was sent at once from here to bring the body to his home in this city for burial. Hansen was aged twenty-seven years, and leaves a family in poor circomstances, who reside on a street near Fairview cemetery.

Ananias, and Where He is Found. Ananias, and Where He is Found.
Saturday Review: Among Aslatics lying is a sign of culture and politic breeding. In Africa the natives are not yet sufficiently civilized to have any definite notions on the subject. They are on the lowest possible level. They lie or not according as they think it is to their advantage or the reverse. Rum and religion, bibles and bayonets, have yet to do a great work before the poor African do a great work before the poor African can rise to the dignity of forming a definite policy on the matter. The Austral ians lean to the American side. In Europe Ananias is branded as a bad man; in America he is a funny man; in Asia, were he known, he would be eanonized as the polished man; while in Africa he is neither better nor worse than any other man—he is the mere average mortal, he drifts with the tide of events, and is not worth making an occational fetich of. On the whole, the career of Ananias must be considered a failure. Where he is known he is not respected, and where he might be respected he is not known. In Sunday school and in the pages of tracts he points a moral; but the position is inadequate to the desires of a true ambition, or the requirements of a discriminating philoso phy. To sporting journals and to the entire American press he is invaluable, cut this is unfeeling, thankless ground. He merely represents a "record," which no one is desirous to break. Not a man of those who cite him regards him with gratitude, not to speak of honest esteem.

A philantropic New York firm has come to the rescue of Rhode Islanders, who want their cocktails in the morning and are prohibited. This firm puts up cocktails, either of gin or whisky, in little bottles, which are packed in neat pasteboard cases, on which are printed the names of the "tonic" and the words, "A good appetizer. Aids digestion. Price 15 cents. Directions: Empty contents in a glass, add a little piece of ice, stir, and drink." The New Yorkers are said to be fairly coining money with the
